

Episode One Hundred Eight - The Benefits of A Proper Understanding of the Senses and of Natural Science

Post by “smoothiekiwi” of February 12, 2022 at 7:43 AM

Quote from Don

I would rephrase that as "It's evident that we should be cautious when interpreting our senses - we can sometimes lie to ourselves (often unknowingly).

I love it when I notice that the other person is right, but without being humiliated myself 😊

But seriously, thanks. It's a good feeling to learn from others to express thoughts more precise, but without the usual "you're not good enough" feeling.