

Episode One Hundred Nine - The Epicurean View of Friendship

Seriously, how are you all able to record and publish these episodes so quickly? I barely manage to listen to one episode each week- they're heavy stuff, and it's not really possible to concentrate on such deep philosophical questions while e.g. cleaning my room. So I owe a lot of respect to all participants, and especially Cassius, that you're able to publish this podcast so frequently. Thanks!
