

2022 Athens Greece Symposium On Epicurean Philosophy - International Edition (in English)

Post by “EricR” of February 28, 2022 at 10:03 AM

I watch the entire video and really enjoyed it. A couple of things stood out for me.

First, I thought Hiram was correct in his comments about the need to use social media to reach young people. More specifics about that would be worth exploring. What platforms are best; the differences between them, etc.

Second, even though this was the 12th Annual Symposium, its inclusion of a variety of speakers from around the world for the first time gave the entire thing a feeling of being at the beginning of something.

Finally, it was apparent that the work done over the past decade or so has focused, rightly in my view, on assembling the Epicurean materials to make them available to all who are interested. There is a copious amount of writing on the philosophy and I wonder if finding new formats in which to present it might be the next step.

I'm not the best person to talk about formats, being an old guy. 😊 But from what I observed in the video, seeking out new channels and new ways of offering the ideas is at least part of the next step.