

Godfrey's Epicurean Outline

That sounds like good reasoning to me Godfrey. Over time I'd like to devote some more time to thinking about "no bound or limit can be discovered." In regard to the total picture of pleasure as the guide, we DO have the limit as expressed in the full experience without any mixture of pain. I am sure that some desires are more easily categorized as without bound or limit than are others, but to some degree the general limit applies to all. Probably this is the kind of subject where discussing possibilities helps flesh out the real issues.
