

Nate's "Allegory of the Oasis" Graphic

Post by "Cassius" of January 8, 2019 at 5:10 PM

Following that last thought, it is possible that when we are young and strong that we particularly fall prey to climbing mountains for the challenge, then we fall back to religion as we fall off the heights.

i guess part of the answer is whether you prefer to go with the analogy that we leave the garden voluntarily (to climb the mountain) or whether we are deceived to leave it.