

Episode One Hundred Thirty - Letter to Pythocles 04 - More on the Sun and Moon

Thanks to Don and Joshua for catching some very poor editing on my part of this episode 130 which was released on 7/16. I have gone through and re-edited the episode and I think corrected most if not all of those problems. I'm not sure what happened but there were several instances where clips were inserted out of order and the sequence then made no sense whatsoever. That's separate and apart - of course - from when I normally say things that make no sense whatsoever. 😊

If anyone listening to this episode hears any major issues in sequence after this post (being made at 8:10 AM EDT on 7/17, please let me know. The original file on Spreaker has been replaced, so downloads from here should be correct. If your podcast manager downloaded the episode previously you will want to re-download to get the latest version.
