

Daily Interactions With The Non-Epicurean World

Post by "DavidN" of July 20, 2022 at 8:16 PM

Nietzsche's point is to live a life worth reliving. Taking into account all the bad what would you have to do to make it worth living over and over again. It's a call to action to examine your life and change it for the better. What ever that might mean for your life and demeanor. There's quite abit more to it but that's the basics.