Quote from Cassius

These medicines we have put [fully] to the test; for we have dispelled the fears [that grip] us without justification, and, as for pains, those that are groundless we have completely excised, while those that are natural we have reduced to an absolute minimum, making their magnitude minute.

Kalosyin brought up in this episode that the phrasing apparently referring to "groundless pains" might not be consistent with our recent discussions of talking about "groundlessness" and "emptiness" in terms of "desires."

So one thing we will need to talk about will be how to incorporate this phrasing into the recent discussions we have had with Godfrey and Don and others on this topic.
