

New Article on the Inscription (And the "Bitter Gift" Misattribution)

Post by "Cassius" of October 3, 2022 at 9:07 AM

That "bitter gift" reference now has me curious. Doesn't seem like something someone would come up with at random, and even the "gift" part doesn't sound really like Epicurus. I wonder if this person has totally transposed this thought from someone else and that "life as a 'bitter gift'" is a core thought of a competing philosopher.