

Personal Finance from an Epicurean Viewpoint

Post by “Matt” of February 1, 2019 at 5:18 PM

Yeah the Amish, like some other communal groups like the Orthodox Jewish folks, dress in an archaic European fashion.

To the modern eye it just appears out of the ordinary and out of step with progress. Like we stepped back into the 19th century. It's all to preserve a cultural identity.

Also, we tend to associate that style with more “cultish” behavior like the various species of LDS Mormonites.

I too am guilty of having this POV, but make no concession that it appears normal nor will I change my opinion that this style will forever remind me of Isaac's cult from Children of the Corn. ?