Haris has two music videos and two presentation videos

So far I have listened to the first music video, which is sort of good, and yet when it says "When we have someone reassure us then we can live like Epicurus" then I feel a little hesitant because to me it seems that so much of the Epicurean philosophy is about using the power of your own mind to understand the true nature of things, so we don't depend on someone reassuring us.

So I would need to look into this a bit more to see what else is in his presentation of Epicureanism, before I would be fully on-board.
