

Epicurus' Birthday 2023 - (The Most Comprehensive Picture Yet!)

Post by "Cassius" of December 16, 2022 at 1:15 PM

Elli that would be great! Please tell him to visit this link:

Post

RE: Epicurus' Birthday 2023 - \(The Most Comprehensive Picture Yet!\)

Hello to all epicurean friends, 😊

I was late to answer at this thread and on the issue, as has been studied and written by our friend @Don , and discussed with the rest of us, because I had a private communication with a greek person named Orestis Pylarinos who keeps everyday and with responsibility the ancient Athenian Calendar with the customs and celebrations of ancient greeks.

Orestis Pylarinos is a mathematician, he speaks both the greek and english language, as he has studied in the US...

Elli

December 16, 2022 at 12:06 PM

When he does he will see the REGISTER button on the right side of the screen (or the top if he is on a telephone)

At present we let everyone register regardless of their personal philosophy, and if you will just ask him to identify himself in a post as being your friend, we will make sure that he is well taken care of.

Thank you and let me know if I need to do more to help get him in!