

Perspectives On "Proving" That Pleasure is "The Good"

Post by "Todd" of December 22, 2022 at 8:14 PM

Quote from Cassius

I recall a sentence in Frances Wright to the effect of Epicurus saying that there is no good but pleasure, no evil but pain, and although that formulation might violate the construction that Todd is looking for (and i might remember the wording wrong), the thrust is probably the same point.

See, now I really like those kind of constructions from an aesthetic, marketing/PR perspective.

Just not when we're talking nuts-and-bolts philosophy.