And even if the wise man be put on the rack, he is happy (eudaimonia) Only the wise man will show gratitude, and will constantly speak well of his friends alike in their presence and their absence. Yet when he is on the rack, then he will cry out and lament.

So there is my explicit license from the texts: When I am on the rack I will not "keep calm and carry on" like nothing significant is happening!

I'll see your underlined text and raise your another 😊 Heading off to work, so don't take silence for anything other than being unable to get to the forum before this evening.

We are not done, my friend 😊
