

Readings From Lucretius In Latin

Post by “Cassius” of June 27, 2023 at 7:42 AM

Happy to report that last night I heard from a long time forum member - Bryan - who was just staying in touch, as makes for good friends who have been in touch since older Facebook forum days. 😊

I recall that Bryan recorded and posted some excellent readings in Lucretius from the original Latin, so I am hoping that we can get him (and perhaps others) to let us set up a thread with sample readings. The effect of these readings in Latin is very unique and worthwhile, so if any of our regulars who have studied how to do this have made any recordings, please post links to them here and perhaps we can compile a list of some of the more important passages.