I want to take that list in post 17 and make sure it's findable in the future, so please let me know if there are similar quotes to be added. There are definitely some quotes from Menoecus that could be added, especially from the opening about the health of the soul, but they are more on the order of "if you want to be happy study philosophy" rather than an explicit statement of the harm that comes if you don't.

But please suggest any that you think would be good for the list to be entitled something like "Epicurean Reasons To Study Philosophy."

"Epicureans Reasons Why You Are Unlikely To Live A Happy Life By Freelancing On Your Own"
