Just an fyi...All new members who have not replied to their welcome thread are in process of being deleted.

Our welcome thread states the following:

"Note: In order to minimize spam registrations, all new registrants must respond here in this thread to this welcome message within 72 hours of its posting, or their account is subject to deletion. Please introduce yourself -- tell us what prompted your interest in Epicureanism, a little about yourself, and/or post a question."

We've been giving a bit of a grace period...So following up on this now.
