

Welcome SeqStrat

Post by “seqstrat” of October 12, 2023 at 4:49 PM

Hello, thank you for the welcome.

I am a Geologist by training with an appreciation for the world and everything therein. I have only recently been introduced to Epicurean philosophy through self-study that has traversed a rather tortuous path to this point. I am amazed with how well it seems to fit my person, and am excited to have found this group along with the tremendous resources available through the same.

I have no questions developed at this moment to ask. I am actively reviewing the materials on this site and the references you have recommended. I intend to inquire with the group as I do this. Thank you again.