

Should we Feel Pity for someone Dying Young? 'The Human Predicament' by David Benatar

Post by “Pacatus” of November 1, 2023 at 5:48 PM

Similar to comments above by Cassius and Kalosyni , I question the relevance of "pity" here -- especially with regard to the deceased. Grief (sadness) for the loss, and compassion for other grievers -- absolutely. But I don't know how "pity" comes into it (and I agree with Kalosyni's take on pity, generally).