Ya I already commented on the absurdity of his logic on the facebook page, I refuse to cede time to those who cannot properly form a rational thought without eating there own tail.

I know it's difficult to converse with people like this. But I couldn't just walk by and let the gentleman say those things without some sort of retort. If not for his benefit, then for the benefit of new viewers who would see those comments and perhaps be somehow persuaded by them. I felt like I should try and "strike a blow for Epicurus".
