Hello!

My name is Alexi and i am based in Narooma, NSW, Australia. I am currently writing a thesis on Epicurus and his project of wholly returning happiness to the natural and necessary facts of existence.

- I was attracted to Epicurus for most of the reasons i defend in my thesis: I view him as a true philosopher in how he doesn't offer another grandiose system that may conduce happiness by unerring pursuit of a number of fixed precepts, but offers us a framework for us to find our own. Empowering perspective rather than the objective, innate feelings rather than logical reasoning and self-cultivation rather than adherence to a given morality.
