

The Importance Of The Perfect Not Being Allowed To Be The Enemy of The Good

Post by “Kalosyni” of March 5, 2024 at 9:48 AM

This came up very briefly in last night's Zoom meeting (here is a full quote):

"It is not good to desire what is impossible, and to endeavour to enunciate a uniform theory about everything; accordingly, we ought not here to adopt the method, which we have followed in our researches into Ethics, or in the solution of the problems of natural philosophy." - Letter to Pythocles, Yonge translation