

On Use Of The Term Apikoros / Apiqoros / Bikouros Against Epicureans

Post by "Pacatus" of March 24, 2024 at 6:56 PM

Quote from Don

That almost sounds Epicurean in that they take part in the rituals of the community but don't ascribe to the supernatural elements.

Apikorsim. 😊 Although Judaism, historically and broadly, is generally more orthopraxic than orthodoxic.

I had an acquaintance who was a Humanistic Jew. I made the slip-of-tongue (quite innocently) of Saying "atheistic Judaism" -- he just laughed and said, "Yeah, pretty much." 😄