

Creation Out of Nothing is Postbiblical Doctrine

Post by “Joshua” of May 15, 2024 at 10:20 AM

I'm not familiar with any such citation. Certainly Plato thought that matter was a crude and illusory imitation of form--a sort of counterfeit. Literally insubstantial, because the substance of every thing is not the thing itself or its physical components, but the changeless, timeless Form of that kind of thing.