

New "Getting Started" Page

Post by "Cassius" of June 2, 2024 at 9:15 PM

We've recently been working on a new "Getting Started" page to feature here at the forum. When you get a chance please look it over and post below if you can think of suggestions for additions, clarifications, or corrections to any part. I think we currently have "most" of our major resources listed, but in going through them I'm pleased to say that we have so many that some of them may be missing.

Let us know any suggestions:

After we go through a couple of revisions we'll probably add a banner for a while to highlight the new page. The page will also always be findable as the first item in the "Home" drop-down menu.
