

The Facial Expression of Epicurus

Post by "Cassius" of June 3, 2024 at 8:30 AM

I agree that the result is not particularly flattering, but the overall look and feel of the AI generation is very impressive.

We need a thread giving information on what AI generators are used, and listing the "instructions" given to the generator, so that more people can get experience in making these as foundations for new meme material.

Update: We already have one. It would be highly desirable to get this conversation going with specific tips on how to do this.

Thread

Using New Technology To Produce More Effective Memes

In addition to the new graphics that Nate's wife has been producing, I see that @Bryan has produced some new work that apparently also uses new technology.

epicureanfriends.com/wcf/gallery/image/726/

epicureanfriends.com/wcf/gallery/image/725/

When I combine my reaction to these new images with Kalosyni's recent efforts towards "motivational posters" and "pamphlets" it seems like we ought to be able to combine the two to produce striking presentations not only of persons but also...

Cassius

November 27, 2023 at 10:54 AM