

Lucretius Today Podcast - With All Past Episodes - Now Available On Youtube

Post by "Cassius" of June 24, 2024 at 4:47 PM

For those of you who follow channels on Youtube, please note that the Lucretius Today Podcast is now available in full as a Youtube Channel:

We're still all audio, of course, but Youtube has "ingested" (their term) the full podcast archive, so now those who use Youtube as their main media center will be able to subscribe and listen to old episodes and follow new episodes as they are released directly in Youtube.

It also looks like closed captioning is operational, so that means Youtube has processed the audio into text, which should make the content of the episodes more "findable" than before.

There may be some hiccups as the "ingestion" settles in, but I've tested it briefly and it looks to be fully operational.

If anyone tries this out and sees any modifications that need to be made to the settings, let us know!
