I came here on this platform after reading the book "living for pleasure" By Emily Austin, she is a good writer and that book helped me a lot, and I am interested in reading more gems of such kind, so I would really appreciate it if you recommend me some good books on Epicureanism that you liked, (preferably about Ethics, but metaphysics and Epistemology also works), and it should not be a heavy book, heavy in the sense of having too many pages or being too complex, thank you.
