

October 7, 2024 - First Monday Epicurean Philosophy Zoom Discussion - Agenda

Post by "Cassius" of October 3, 2024 at 9:36 AM

Note about the Sorities discussion:

Post

RE: October 7, 2024 - First Monday Epicurean Philosophy Zoom Discussion - Agenda

A key text which was mentioned in our Zoom last night involves the first sentence of the following quote which Usener catalogs as part of U67, from Athēnaïos, Deipnosophists, 12.67, 546E:

- And indeed Epíkouros, while not hiding himself, says loudly "I myself am not able to conceive the good - if I removed the pleasure from flavor, and removed the pleasure from Aphrodisian activities." For this wise man believes that even the life of profligates can be irreproachable - if It should be safe

...

Cassius

October 3, 2024 at 9:32 AM