Quote from Don

Putting ourselves in Epicurus' headspace and social context in this topic is nigh impossible given our current understanding of the universe.

Not to be argumentative and just for the record, in case lurkers see this and wonder if no one responds, I'll state that I respectfully very much disagree with this statement. The regulars here know that we've gone through this question many times before, and there is respectful disagreement among our regulars on this point, but the lurkers won't so that's why I note it. 😊
