

Social Media Considered Anti-Epicurean: 101 Reasons Why

Post by “Cassius” of October 22, 2024 at 9:11 AM

Well after further thought.... Social Media Can Be Anti-Epicurean - 101 Reasons Why (?)

It definitely has its uses when kept under control, and in the end this is probably another example of how a tool is neutral and its results for pleasure or pain depends on context / how it is used.

I suspect my comments seem self-contradictory but I think it's an essential point. The problems which we're pointing out result from how it is used. If used with great care, it can be very powerful for pleasure. We would not be here today in this forum were it no for the Facebook of the 2010 era.