

Austin at Bowdoin (2023)

Post by “Don” of November 26, 2024 at 8:48 AM

From Aurelius to Epicurius: Dr. Emily Austin analyzes the role of happiness through an ancient lens - The Bowdoin Orient

I just saw this article from The Bowdoin Orient, "the nation's oldest continuously published college weekly," about a talk Dr. Austin gave at Bowdoin College late last year. From all accounts, it appears she continues to be an effective "evangelist"* for the relevance of Epicurean philosophy to modern life.

I must admit I found the misspelling in the title somewhat endearing... Looks like The Orient needed one more proofreader. 😊 Maybe that's someone who is curious about the philosophy. Maybe they were playing off of Aurelius?

*The wise one will give public readings upon request. 😊