

Lecture on practical application of Epicureanism

I just don't have time to go through that video and list everything that seems incorrect to me.

It's like we are one step away from having quite an assortment of "Epicureans" or "Epicurean beliefs" such that there are three blind men in a room with an elephant and one feels the trunk, one feels the tail, and one feels the leg.

The antidote to this situation is that folks ought to create an outline of what they believe are the Epicurean tenets, and include the sources in the texts. Also updating the outline when there is a change in how one sees things. I myself need to do a better job of outlining with sources.

And then there would be no need to post outside videos on the forum, as we could be making our own videos instead. 😊
