

Facebook Becomes Ever-More Oppressive

Post by “Cassius” of May 24, 2019 at 5:28 AM

This message just popped up on my Facebook Admin screen. Facebook becomes ever more oppressive with each passing day, and I continue to plot my reduction of use there, and eventual exit. This Epicureanfriends forum is the first step, but far from the last.

Changes to What Group Admins Can See

This message is just for your information. It is not in response to anything you've posted, and does not mean we've removed any of your content.

Our Community Standards help keep Facebook safe and welcoming for everyone. If we find that content in a group goes against the Community Standards, we remove it from Facebook. We may also tell the group's admins which standard the content violated, and in some cases we may allow the group admins to see the removed content for up to 7 days.
