

Téōs Around an Idea

Post by “Bryan” of March 2, 2025 at 10:37 PM

Brilliant outline of the possibilities!

Quote from Eikadistes

Epicurus thought of himself as a “Democritean” as a younger man

Yes, a very good fact to keep in mind!

Quote from Eikadistes

he was a true historian of several hundred years of philosophy, and deeply fascinated by each thinker's arguments.

Yes, in On Nature, he is not just taking on Plato, but also Democritus and Anaxagoras (for example).

I agree there still may be a few dots to connect. I'll keep this post in mind.