

Outline for book "Raising Children in the Epicurean Philosophy"

Post by "Hiram" of June 3, 2019 at 1:18 PM

Quote from Cassius

VS 62. If the anger of parents against their children is justified, it is quite pointless for the children to resist it and to fail to ask forgiveness. If the anger is not justified but is unreasonable, it is folly for an irrational child to appeal to someone deaf to appeals and not to try to turn it aside in other directions by a display of good will.

Concerning anger, when arming a child with techniques to tackle it, I would advise you read Philodemus' scroll On Anger:

<http://societyofepicurus.com/reasonings-on-philodemus-on-anger/>

(you may request it from your public library)