

Article on Lucretius and "Death is Nothing to Us"

Post by "Kalosyni" of April 13, 2025 at 8:18 AM

I was searching for where in Lucretius he talks about impermanence (Google AI says in Book 3) and happened on this introductory level article regarding "death is nothing to us", which contains excerpts from Lucretius:

Image not found or type unknown

Why Death is Nothing to Fear: Lucretius and Epicureanism | Philosophy Break

In his epic poem De Rerum Natura (On The Nature of Things), Roman philosopher Lucretius outlines why, even though there may be no overarching design to life,...
philosophybreak.com

(For the text references, I don't see what translation he is using, and so perhaps he has created a kind of paraphrasing of the text).