Quote from Rolf

As long as watching movies leads to more pleasure than pain, and for many (myself included) it does, then what's the harm?

Yes, I see your point and stand corrected.

I'll think about how to express my thoughts about movies in a such a way that it simply suggests for those who do watch movies, to observe their sense of whether or not they are feeling more pleasure than pain. It is a subjective thing for everyone.
