

☐ as the symbol of the philosophy of Epicurus

Post by “Rolf” of May 24, 2025 at 6:26 PM

Some great ideas here! I’ve really been enjoying looking at all of them.

I’m firmly in the camp of “symbols should be simple enough for a child to draw”. With that in mind, I like the idea of a full cup as a symbol, representing the vessel analogy and thus the prudent pursuit of pleasure - neither ascetic nor reckless.