

Herculaneum preservation

Post by "Cassius" of June 12, 2019 at 2:49 PM

No problem! In fact I can easily move this entire thread to that location after a time. My current thought is that leaving threads in "General Discussion" will make them a little more visible, but if people pay attention to how the forum software works they quickly see that new comments bubble to the top of the "Recent Activities" thread regardless of what forum they re in.