

Locating the proper forum for posting

Post by “Kalosyni” of June 27, 2025 at 3:31 PM

Guidance for locating the proper place for posting:

You can add to an existing discussion thread, or you can create a new thread with your question or topic clearly stated as the subject line. Please be sure to read through our list on the quality of posting that we are in need of here on the forum.

Level One members: your permissions are set to allow posting only into your Welcome thread, so you can post your questions there.

Other members - if you are unsure of where to post, then please post into your welcome thread or message an admin to ask.

Here is an overview with short-cuts to our main forums:

Physics - use either:

--Physics General Discussion

--one of the other specific sub-forums under Physics

Canonics- use either:

--Canonics General Discussion

--one of the other specific sub-forums under Canonics

Ethics (theory) - use either:

--Ethics General Discussion

--one of the other specific sub-forums under Ethics

Ethics Practical Applications (relevant for modern times) use either:

--the Practical Applications General Discussion

--one of the other specific sub-forums under Practical Applications

Ancient texts: Ancient texts - locate the specific text you would like to discuss (message the admin if you can't find what you are looking for)

Modern texts, articles, & videos - locate the specific text, etc you would like to discuss, or add new articles

Study resources or activism

Comparisons with other philosophies

Notable Epicureans, including Epicurus, Metrodorus, etc.

Other notable contributors

History, places, customs relevant to Epicureans or the time of Epicurus

Art & Symbolism

The Lucretius Today podcast

Zoom meetings

This list may be updated or improved in the future...please let us know if you have any questions or suggestions for improvements.