

"Faith" And Confidence In Epicurean Philosophy

Post by "Pacatus" of August 27, 2025 at 6:34 PM

In my arguments with some Christians over the years (who equated "faith" with a source of knowledge itself), I came to define "faith" as "an attitude of confidence in the face of uncertainty."

[This also seems to accord with some practical (e.g., in sports) psychology.]

Needless to say, those Christians continued to claim that they actually knew things by faith ...

