

Welcome Ontologix!

Post by “Rolf” of September 3, 2025 at 9:51 AM

Quote from ontologix

For him pleasure was not an aim in itself. It was rather a motivation how to go about things. If you do not like your work you will not succeed in it.

From everything I've read, pleasure is very much the aim and the end, according to Epicurus. If pleasure wasn't the aim for him, what was?