Hello friends!

I am a 37 year old software engineer based in London, UK, and a philosophy newbie who has been challenging conventional ideas for ways of living throughout my life. Recent reading on the topics of philosophy, epistemology, and hedonism has led me to the fascinating ideas of Epicurus. The value of friendship especially struck a chord with me, and reading through the Team Epicurus decision tree, I see strong alignment with my own beliefs.

I am excited to read through the book "Living for Pleasure" imminently!
