

The Kind of Ring I'd Like to See

Post by "Cassius" of August 5, 2019 at 2:51 PM

To start immediately, I am NOT convinced that Epicurus or the epicureans were vegetarians. I agree that that kind of thing is often thrown around but the core texts, even / especially Lucretius, make NO Reference to such a thing.

I think it's entirely compatible to be sympathetic with animals as well as to eat them, at least under certain conditions.