

A Reddit Exchange With Comments

Post by "Cassius" of September 30, 2019 at 6:46 AM

And this is the Epicurean subreddit! ?! It is hardly possible to engage the discussion when people approach life from such basically different viewpoints. What does living happily mean to someone who sees life as a matter of serving "God" above all?