

The Difference Between Happiness and Pleasure

Excellent! That makes SO much sense to me.

one last addition: while all of what I said is true of my current situation, in the future my financial circumstances could change and that very same situation could contribute to pain for me if I chose to undertake it even though I couldn't afford it, or it was my only mode of transportation, etc. There's certainly a relativity to the status of events as contributing to or depriving me of pleasure.

Thanks for following me down this path. It's helping me get a firmer grasp on Epicureanism.
