

Practical Daily Pleasure-- Creating Pleasurable Habits

Post by “Elayne” of November 11, 2019 at 2:30 PM

Godfrey, in my garage I currently have my coffee roaster corner, the very tall stand for my yoga trapeze (with a gym mat under it), and weights... I may have room, actually, for ping pong, come to think of it! Lol! My family had a ping pong table when I was growing up, and my dad's parents also... lots of fun memories.

My possibly strange interior design tastes are going to show up big time in the garage, eventually... I'm going to paint it midnight blue, hang bistro lights, stick glow in the dark stars on the ceiling, and hang things like planet mobiles and bird pinatas. This winter when it gets cold, I plan to try making a giant papier mache tree for my living room. I have a spare room downstairs that my son and I use to do paintings and various craft projects.