

Mako's Epicurean Outline

Post by "Cassius" of February 2, 2018 at 5:25 PM

Yes the issue I think does go more to the matter of what is "real" rather than what is "true." The senses are our key to determining what is "real," but if the "true" is defined to mean "absolutely true at all places and all times" then nothing ever gets us to that point because that is an impossible standard.