Quote from Cassius

As another example, I regularly regret that the ancient Epicureans had to face the decline and fall of their civilization to Christianity, but I try to budget the time I spend on that to a minimum since unless I am able to build a time machine before I die, there is precious little I can do about it! 😊

You can at least take pleasure in the thought experiment 😊 in going back and helping to save the Epicureans and bring back some original texts.
